property near the rapidly growing city of Duluth, Minnesota, which bids fair in the near future to be a second Chicago, and to have repeated there the same great advance in values of acre property which has taken place in the vicinity of Chicago, where such investments have advanced almost fabulously. Duluth, now a city of nearly 50,000 people, is growing fast, and is acknowledged on all sides to be the coming metropolis of the New Northwest. We have had placed in our hands for sale by the owner about 1,500 acres of land, all of which is within 4 to 54 miles of Duluth. in the township immediately north, and we offer the same in tracts of 40 acres, the offer open for six weeks. We will sell a single 40 or fraction (8 of the pieces contain from 41 to 42 acres each, and 28 are exactly 40 acres each); or we will sell as many contiguous pieces as may be wanted. These lands are nearly all contiguous, not isolated 40s; were all entered when the entire township was vacant and subject to entry, and were first choice, selected lands; they are all well timbered, and a road from Duluth is now being opened which will reach these lands, and any railroad north from Duluth, which is sure to be built, will go through them. We offer these lands at the low price of $13 per acre cash; and as we offer them in 40-acre pieces, an opportunity is here open for any one to invest $520 in a way that will in all probability soon increase hardsomely. In connection with all comparisons of price and locality, the following facts must be borne in mind: property the same distance from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Kansas City, or Cmains, cannot be purchased for less than $500 or $600 per acre, and near some cities a great deal more is asked. The ame causes will produce the same effects in a comparative ratio; consequently, when these lands can be purchased at the absurdly low price of $13 per sere, and are only four to five and one-half miles from the metropolis of Lake Superior, with its 50,000 people and its growing network of railroads, we argue and firmly believe that we offer the best, safest, and most profitable investment for $520 and over that can be found in the Northwest. Conveyance will be by warranty deed from the owner (who is a responsible man), accompanied by a certified copy of a full abstract of title, which is perfect in every respect. Any further information can be had, as well as plats, showing the exact position of the lands, with the sectional description and distance from Duluth, by application to us by letter or otherwise. That any person may be able to satisfy himself of the character of the parties who offer these lands and the truth of the representations made above as regards title, &c., we refer by permission to the Commercial National Bank, St. Paul; Hon.
